Riddle Of The Day

What has a head and a tail but no body?

Yesterday's Answer: Fill the 3 liter jug and pour it into the 5 liter jug. Fill the 3 liter again, and pour as much as possible into the 5 liter jug, resulting in 1 liter being left in the 3 liter jug. Empty out the 5 liter jug and put the 1 liter from the 3 liter jug into the 5 liter jug. Fill up the 3 liter jug one more time and pour it into the 5 liter jug equaling 4 liters.

Christopher Lamothe Announces Presidential Run.

A Satirical News Piece From Our Very Own Jon

Late last night a noticeably tired, disheveled Christopher Lamothe; declared his candidacy for the presidency, exclaiming “well it just seems like something everyone is doing now so I figured I'd give it a shot” Chris has made plans to make his positions on several key issues more clear after the next few weeks but the Lamothe campaign has made it clear that only he can make orders to America and that all orders must go through him. This does seem to include ALL orders, fast food, military orders and supplies. Other points Mr. Lamothe’s campaign pushed was the fact that America has so much uninventoried materials, makes Chris, age 436, quite nervous. Opponents have criticized Mr. Lamothe as he has no official governmental experience. Mr. Lamothe has counter that argument with frantic shouts of “You don't KNOW me, I’m THE Chris Lamothe!” he then left the room kicking and screaming and crying into an embroidered handkerchief. Chris’s main economic plan boils down to four simple principles,

1. Youth spending first
2. Economic opportunities
3. American manufacturing
4. True labor costs reflected in the market.

This YEAT plan has been met with significant skepticism Mr. L has polled significantly below expectations, sitting about 3.141 percent of the vote. Here is for all of us at the Sci-Tech Times wishing him good luck!
