Today's Story

History of Gov's Part 2

A Satire News Story By Amanda

After many long years of study and adventure, Dummer - after experimenting - made a discovery. In one of his bean experiments, a light erupts from his pot. Thus, the best beans were born. Upon eating these beans, he had an epiphany; his years of study needed to be spread to the world. So he decided to establish "Governor Dummer's Academy for the science of Beans." All of his students were taught many subjects, including bean history, bean recipes, and the science of beans. After several years of bean knowledge were passed to further generations, a statue was built in Dummer's honor. He can be seen holding his magic bean recipe book in the authentic beans in the other. But on one night, the full bowl of beans was stolen by a mysterious man in the night. No one knew why or who did this terrible act. After the beans were stolen, Dimmer disappeared out of sadness, and the art and knowledge of beans slowly faded away. To this day, people still recreated Dummer's first encounter on the road to amazing beans, but the creation of the best beans has been forgotten. We remember the founding, the history, the academy, in what we now know as "The Bean Skit."
