New Candidate for The 2020 Election

A Satire News Story By Noah

As a recent development of the presidential race, Head Nurse, Cindy Peprak has announced her candidacy for 2020. Following the embarrassing LobsterGate of the Lamothe campaign, Peprak decided to rise to the challenge of garnishing the leadership role. "If he can do it, why can't I? I'd be so much better!" Says Cindy. The Peprak campaign has announced it's main platform as focusing on healthcare. If elected president, Peprack hopes to alleviate some of the stress that the medical community is constantly under by making sure that everyone knows that most non-serious medical problem can be fixed just by drinking water. "Everyone needs water. I walk down the street and see so many people without a water bottle. That is just unacceptable!" Cindy Peprak also is unveiling a plan to allow medical attention to anyone who enters the Medical Center under the condition that they come after lunch. A press release further explains that the HealthCare staff work hard and need the rest of the time to organize medication. Though the popular belief is that the staff is having secret strategy meetings for the campaign.
